Packaging

Dried Flowers are 100% natural, dried and processed products sourced from traditional Dutch growers. Lamboo are undisputed experts in the industry since 1982 having developed a unique drying process that still exists to this day, and which ensures both the vibrant colours and long lasting quality is preserved.

PROCESS

1 Dutch dried flowers are sowed in Spring and harvested in Summer when the flowers are at their peak condition

2 Harvesting dried flowers involves traditional techniques that can only be carried out by hand, knife and sickle

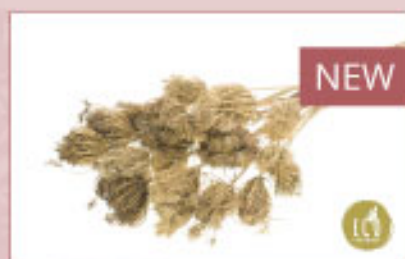

3 Following harvest, all flowers are carefully dried in the processing rooms and packed in recyclable boxes

RED

The products can be coloured using non-toxic water based paints and dyes. This process not only allows you to develop colour themed displays and bouquets, but also significantly enhances the life-span of the products. All colouring materials (dyes) are certified and waste water is responsibly disposed of once cleaned in the on-site water purification plant.

PINK

The natural base colour of the product will determine the final tonal effect – so a lighter base will have a more vivid brighter colour than one with a darker base.

We strive to make our products as environmentally conscious as possible, and that goes for the packaging too. As standard, all bunches are carefully packed loose in recyclable cardboard boxes, however when packaging is required we can offer different options including Kraft paper, plant plastic transparent sleeves or a mix of Kraft paper and plant plastic fronted sleeves. We also use paper tape to secure bunches.
